Feldman Elected to 2022 Fellows Class of Chattanooga Bar Foundation

Husch Blackwell is pleased to announce that Chattanooga-based partner Ronald Feldman has been elected to the Chattanooga Bar Foundation's 2022 Class of Fellows.

As a member of the firm's Real Estate, Development & Construction industry group, Feldman focuses his practice on sophisticated real estate transactions that involve a property's entire life cycle. He represents one of the largest real estate investment trust (REIT) shopping center developers in the country and regularly serves as lead attorney for transactions involving malls, neighborhood shopping centers and peripheral land, including purchase and sale agreements and ground leases.

The Chattanooga Bar Foundation elects new Bar Fellows each year, announcing its selections during its annual Law Day Luncheon in early May. In addition to several tenure-based requirements, Fellowship candidates must have made outstanding and recognized contributions to the legal profession and to the public good, with particular emphasis on active participation in the Chattanooga Bar Association.
